U.S. Closing Combat Base

Pulling Out
20,000 in
4 Months

SAIGON (AP) — The United States will withdraw 20,000 combat troops from the Saigon region during the next four months and deactivate a major tactical headquarters in a speed-up of American disengagement from South Vietnam, the Associated Press learned today.

The U.S. 2nd field force, a tactical headquarters 12 miles northeast of Saigon controlling all U.S. Thai, Australian and New Zealand combat units in the 3rd Military Region, will be reorganized to function strictly in an advisory role.

End Role

The 3rd Military Region includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces. It covers an area of 10,000 square miles.

The withdrawal of the 20,000 troops from the Saigon region will end the American combat role in the 3rd Military Region. Only one brigade of American combat troops will remain in the region by May, about 5,000 men, and their role will be one of providing security for U.S. installations.

The units being withdrawn from the 3rd Region are the equivalent of more than a combat division. They include two of the three brigades of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, the 11th Armored Cavalry regiment, and the 2nd Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division.

Redeployed to Hawaii Two other brigades of the 25th Division and its headquarters were redeployed to Hawaii last year.

The only U.S. combat unit remaining in the region after May will be the one brigade of the 1st Air Cavalry division.

Many of the 400 assault and other helicopters of the 1st Air Cavalry Division will be turned in the kidnapping of Ambassador Geoffrey M.S. Jackson of Britain who are hard-pressed for com-

The withdrawal of at least a brigade of the 1st Air Cavalry division had been reported earlier this week by a reliable source.

A significant factor in the decision, sources said, was that

'Cupid' Bungles

NEW YORK (AP) — Several dozen lonely people who paid hundreds of dollars to "computer Cupids" say that what they got for their money was quite different from what they expected.

They came forward at a public hearing Friday held by State Atty. Gen. Louis B. Lefkowitz to determine what kind of controls, if any, should be placed on the booming industry. There are some 28 such computer dating services in the city.

Walter P. Gordon, a long-distance runner who stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 140 pounds, testified a computer dating service for $500, matched him with a girl who was 5 feet 2 inches and 180 pounds.

Too Old

Byron Ross, 24, of Brooklyn said he paid $500 for the name of a girl who turned out to live in Connecticut.

Harriet Weiner, a middle-aged widow from Flushing, Queens, said she paid $395 for a computer match-up with a man who was old enough to be her father.

When Ronald Melston, president of Scientific Dating Service, complained that the witnesses were creating a one-sided image of the industry, a man attending the hearing rose and lodged a complaint against Melston's firm.

Stephen Milgrim and Robert Friedman, presidents of other computer-dating firms, urged the state to license the match-making business to save the industry from "quick buck artists" and "cheapie or marginal firms."

11,000 Names

Milgrim said his Operation Match, which claims to be the nation's oldest and largest computer-dating service, makes matches from a pool of 11,000 New York area names.

Matches are made from 235 separate pieces of information, of which at least 80 percent must "jibe" before two people are put in touch. Milgrim said.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Stephen Mindell, who questioned witnesses at the hearing, said many dating service firms "go in and out of business overnight, leaving consumers with no indication at all of where confidential information they submitted goes."

Diplomat in Uruguay Student, Worker Held in Kidnaping

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — Although the government refuses to negotiate with the terrorists for Jackson's release, a tire company worker the Foreign Ministry issued a note saying: "We will spare no effort to protect his life and obtain his immediate liberation."

The government has refused to deal with guerrillas responsible for six previous political kidnappings, but Jackson ranks higher than the previous victims.

President Jorge Pacheco Areco met with three top Cabinet officials at his vacation resort at Santa Teresa, about 150 miles east of here, to consider moves in the crisis.

At least a half-dozen stolen cars were used in the kidnap. One car stolen from a garage near the city center was found on the outskirts of town with bullet holes in the body.

Police said they were at a loss to explain the bullet holes because so far as they knew, no shots were fired during the kidnap operation.

Police also were seeking to identify a night watchman at a nearby garage from where a number of vehicles were stolen within shortly before the kidnaping.

Claim Threat to Bombers

U.S. Attacks N. Vietnam Missile Site

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. fighter-bomber attacked an anti-aircraft missile site in North Vietnam Friday after the missile battery threatened American B52 bombers, military spokesmen announced today. They said no missiles were actually fired.

Disclosure of the attack, the first reported raid over North Vietnam since Nov. 30, came while U.S. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird was in Saigon for a four-day visit to South Vietnam.

The attack took place 70 miles northwest of the Demilitarized

Zone in the Mu Gia Pass area, spokesmen said.

They gave this account:

Shrike Missiles The B52s were on raids against North Vietnamese supply routes running southward through Laos just across the border and were being protected by F105 fighter-bombers that carry Shrike air-to-ground missiles.

One F105 crossed into North Vietnam and fired two of the electronically controlled Shrike missiles at the site. A spokesman for the U.S. Command said the results of the attack were not known. He said there was no damage to U.S. aircraft.

Spokesmen said that although heavy attacks recently along the North Vietnamese missile site did not fire on the B52s, electronic gear on the F105 showed that enemy radar had of four main supply routes leading over Russian handling of trials of would-be hijackers, and French parties have urgent-ly Jewish, who wanted so-ly implored the Kremlin to cool-desperately to leave the Soviet-Union that they were willing to risk death. Young Hobby Club Entertain Guest With Funny Yardstick Stunt with a watch that has a second hand, start working your hand down the length of the stick to the opposite end. You must not drop the stick; if you do, you will have to start again and the timing will have to begin again. The idea is to see how fast you can arrive at the opposite end of the yardstick. Next, see how fast you can work your hand back to the other end without turning the stick around; in other words, go backwards. With practice you will be able to attain considerable speed. If you can locate two yardsticks make a race out of this by having a contest between two players. You can have lots of fun with this stunt any time several friends gather. You can even get Mother and Dad into the act and see if you are faster than they are. Monday: Lots more good fun for every boy and girl!

Supersonics Whip Braves Lakers, Portland Pistons, Warriors Victorious in NBA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spencer Haywood was 3,000 miles away and hardly responsible for Buffalo's foldup against Seattle Friday night but the Braves are protesting in his name anyway.

And why not? Everybody else that plays Seattle in the National Basketball Association is doing it.

Buffalo suffered through a 32-point second half and dropped a 110-102 decision to the Sonics Friday night. They protested because Haywood's name was on the Sonics' active roster.

The American Basketball Association referee was busy with a court appearance in Los Angeles and did not come East with the Sonics. But the Braves were the sixth straight team to protest a game against Seattle since the Sonics signed Haywood.

In other NBA games Friday night, Los Angeles tagged Philadelphia 123-117. Portland defeated Chicago 118-105. Detroit took Cincinnati 115-104 and San Francisco nipped San Diego 120-117.

Buffalo was leading the Haywood-less Sonics 70-53 at the half but player-coach Len Wilkens led a second-half surge that brought Seattle back. Wilkens finished with 30 points. 21 of them after the intermission. Don May had 30 for the Braves.

Keith Erickson poured in 12 points in the final period and Wilt Chamberlain's defense led Los Angeles to its victory over Philadelphia. Gail Goodrich led the Lakers with 27 points and Chamberlain finished with 18 in control of the backboards. Archie Clark's 27 was tops for the 76ers.

Portland used a three-guard offense in the final quarter to wear down Chicago and beat the Bulls. Jim Barnett led the last-period surge with 11 of his 25 points. Geoff Petrie led the Trail Blazers with 27 while Chet Walker had 33 for Chicago.

Detroit's Dave Bing poured in 31 points to lead the Pistons past Cincinnati. It was the seventh victory in the last nine games for Detroit, now 14 games over .500 with a 29-15 record—their best mark in 14 years.

Boston used 39 points by John Havlicek and 27 from Jo Jo White to whip Phoenix. The Suns, forced to play without injured Connie Hawkins for the sixth straight game, fell behind early and never quite made up the deficit against the Celtics.

Baltimore won its seventh straight game, getting 31 points and 24 rebounds from Gus Johnson to rip Atlanta. Wes Unseld added 25 rebounds for the streaking Bulls. The Hawks got 27 points from Wilt Hazzard and 23 from Lou Hudson.

Nate Thurmond and Jerry Lucas led a 41-point third-period San Francisco upset, helping the Warriors overcome a 63-57 half-time deficit. Thurmond finished with 26 points and Lucas with 23, and 20 rebounds. Elvin Hayes had 28 points for San Diego.

VTE, School Officials Plan Joint Session

A joint meeting of the officials of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 and high school officials within VTE-12 has been scheduled at 6 p.m. Wednesday at the Forester Club.

The purpose of the meeting, according to Dominic Bordini, head of research and planning for VTE-12, is to discuss the needs of the community and how well they are met.

The program will begin with dinner and a welcome by Gaylord Unbehau, Brillion superintendent of schools and a VTE-12 board member.

Involved in the general session of the program will be Harland Kirchner, board president, who will outline the progress and goals of the Fox Valley Technical Institute.

William Sirek, FVTTI director, will tell of the administration functions and programs, and Dr. Robert Ristau, administrator of vocational education, State Department of Public Instruction, will discuss meeting the needs of the 16-18 year olds.

From 8 to 9:30 p.m. sectional meetings are planned on the policy objectives and finances for board members; vocational program correlation and drop-out problem for the superintendents; curriculum, student services and field services.

Meeting at Lawrence Independent Colleges Push For More State Tuition Aid

Representatives from seven schools. He also indicated this would be helpful to the independent institutions who find themselves with a decreasing share of the total number of college students.

De Zonia suggested that the state could provide the additional funds because in the long run it would be cheaper this way than to assume full responsibility itself for college education. "Private colleges have over $170 million in just buildings and equipment," he said, "and this represents a state asset without being a liability."

He said that in the past 10 years the state has been concentrating on the quantitative aspects of higher education and now "that Wisconsin has more and better facilities than most states, it is time to concentrate on the quality."

Aid to Quality

He suggested that a healthy system of private colleges and universities was helpful to the state.

Among administrators, students, alumni, trustees and teachers at the meeting were seven representatives of the state legislature. WAUCU, which was drumming up support for the proposal, found two friends who are members of the joint finance committee — Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale and Rep. Carl Otte, D-Sheboygan.

Hollander called it "a request that might be too modest," and Otte said that "it is going to be a rough road, but I am optimistic."

Full Election Slate Certain At Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — The village is assured of a full slate of candidates for the April election with three men taking out nomination papers Thursday.

Edward Spierings began circulating papers for re-election as village president. He served as trustee from 1962 to 1965 when he was elected president and was re-elected to the office again in 1967 and '69.

Lloyd Vanden Heuvel began circulating papers for his fourth term as village trustee and George Vanderloop Sr. will be seeking his second term as trustee. Earlier Tom A. Grueman took out papers for trustee. Three trustee posts are to be filled in April.

Patrick Blohm, third incumbent, submitted a letter to Village Clerk Gerald Lucy indicating he would not be a candidate for re-election after eight years in office. Blohm indicated, lack of time to meet many of the hours required, particularly in his area of major interest, the park and recreation programs, as the reason for his decision not to seek re-election.

Third Candidate Enters 4th Ward Race in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — The 4th ward aldermanic position to be filled in the April election is proving the most popular as a third candidate, Mrs. Melvin Schauer, 1201 Main Ave., began circulating nomination papers for the office Tuesday.

Mrs. Schauer, a housewife with seven children, formerly served as assistant to the executive director of the Chamber of Commerce and spent 10 years as copy writer for the Kaukauna Times.

Previously announced candidates are Clayton Van Dyke, 328 E. 18th St., and Michael Swiontek 406 E. 20th St.

Richard Gerrits, who is completing his second term as alderman of the Second ward, has announced he would not seek re-election in April due to lack of time. He is a school teacher in the Appleton Public School system.

Top Cage Units All Triumph

St. Catherine Routs
Notre Dame Quint;
Rhineland Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rich got richer, for the most part, in the Wisconsin high school basketball go-round Friday night.

Every member of The Associated Press' big and little ten polls captured their contests.

In the poll's Big Ten, top-ranked Neenah crushed Kaukauna 86-55; Racine St. Catherine, No. 2, bombed Milwaukee Notre Dame 98-44; Rhineland, No. 3, demolished Schofield 104-72; Madison West, No. 4, barely edged Madison East 73-65 in overtime; Beloit, No. 5, defeated Madison Memorial 68-33; Chippewa Falls, tied for fifth, knocked off La Crosse Logan 69-56; and the three teams tied for eighth all won.

Mantowoc had very little trouble downing Green Bay Southwest, 88-34; Sun Prairie rolled past Edgerton, 88-52; and Appleton West bumped Oshkosh, 85-63.

Same Story

The story was the same in the Little Ten, with Kewaunee, No. 1, No. 2 Dodgeville; No. 4 Chetek; No. 5 Waterloo; No. 6 De Pere; Permings; No. 7 Pardeeville; No. 8 Hayward; No. 9 Cambridge and the two teams tied for tenth, Barneveld and Hortonville, all winning.

Friday night's top scorer was Terry Lee Paul of Auburndale who funneled in 41 points against Abotsford.

Other top scorers include Tom Wegner of Fond du Lac, Springs with 36; Rhineland's Paul Wolta with 31; Jim Leiterman, Mishicot, 31; Mike Weller, Chilton, 35, and Sparta's Mark Jenkins with 38.

Then there was the new Auburn-Birchwood game. Officials called a total of 68 fouls, and 10 players were whistled to the sidelines.

And then there was the labor issue. Wisconsin Rapids canceled its game against Shawano because of a teachers' work stoppage.

Police & Fire Beat

A fine of $150 and costs was levied this morning on an Appleton man found guilty of driving while intoxicated. Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller imposed the fine on Elmer P. Kohl, 50, 744 E. Franklin St., and also revoked his right to drive for four months. Kohl was charged on Nov. 28, in the 700 block of N. Division Street by Appleton police.

FREEDOM — Lloyd L. Springstroh, 19, route 5, Appleton, complained of a back injury early today after his auto, out of control, left Outagamie County Trunk S one-half mile east of here and broke off part of a power pole.

FREEDOM — In a two-car collision about 6 p.m. Thursday about two miles west of here, in the intersection of County Trunks S and J, Peter J. Biese, 21, 810 S. Oneida St., was treated and released from Kaukauna Community Hospital after sustaining head cuts. County police identified the driver of the other car as Henry J. Calmes, 21, route 1, Kaukauna.

Robert S. Duthie, 813 E. Pershing St., and Christopher Koeppel, 408 W. Seventh St., both 19, paid fines of $31 this morning after pleading guilty to an amended charge of disorderly conduct brought against them the same time on Dec. 30. Appleton police originally charged the pair with possessing beer off of licensed premises, after an incident at College Avenue and Walnut Street.

Ronald Billick, 26, Manawa will come back into court Tuesday on a charge of burglary. Outagamie County investigators allege that he broke into Peck's Beer Depot in the Town of Dale on either Dec. 31 or Jan. 1, and took two quarter barrels of beer. County Judge Nick P. Schaefer continued Billick's case to Tuesday so he may consult with an attorney. Bond was set at $1,500. Two 17-year-old boys allegedly involved in the incident have been referred to juvenile authorities.

Outagamie County Judge Nick P. Schaefer scheduled a Jan. 14 trial Friday in the case of Michael Milton, 23, 116½ S. Walnut St., who is charged with theft by Appleton detectives. They allege that Milton, on Oct. 24, took a ring belonging to an Appleton man. Schaefer set bond at $100.

A hearing, to determine the validity of a confession, will be held Jan. 21 in the case of Robert Menting, 30, 107 N. Main St., Kimberly, who Friday pleaded innocent before Outagamie County Judge Nick P. Schaefer. He is charged with the Sept. 12 burglary of Egan's Marina Bar, route 2, Kaukauna, where several items, including cash, were taken. Bond of $1,500 was continued.

Little Chute Police Ordered to Enforce Snowmobile Statutes

LITTLE CHUTE — A rash of snowmobile complaints has resulted in Police Chief Robert Nechodom ordering his officers to start arresting persons believed to be violating village ordinance.

Snowmobilers have been driving across private property and running machines late at night, causing a public nuisance, noted Nechodom. "Arrests will be made for trespassing or disorderly conduct by too much noise if necessary," he said. He also warned, it was illegal to operate such a vehicle on any street in the village.

Treasurer Will Not Run Again

Eugene Paltzer Says He Will Not Seek Grand Chute Office

A Town of Grand Chute official announced Friday that he will not seek re-election this spring for the post he has held the past five years.

Eugene Paltzer, treasurer, said he would step down for personal reasons, citing he was overburdened by the increasing workload. Paltzer was appointed to the town office when the former treasurer, Peter Berg, became Outagamie County treasurer in March of 1966. Paltzer was elected in 1967, and re-elected in 1969.

Town Clerk Leslie Woldt said the treasurer post, and those of chairman, clerk, assessor, constable and two supervisor spots would be filled at the spring election. Nomination papers are available from his office upon request, he said, but must be received no later than 5 p.m. on Jan. 28.

Little Chute Men Fined for Killing Rabbits

Three young men who used a long wooden pole to club four rabbits to death Dec. 22 in a village of Little Chute field, were each fined $30 and costs in court Friday for violating the state conservation regulations.

Michael J. Wiegert, 23, 203 1/2 Third St., Kaukauna, and Timothy H. St. Aubin, 21, 601 S. Jackson St., Little Chute, pleaded no contest to the charge. St. Aubin's brother, Vernon, 21, who had car trouble in Stevens Point and couldn't be present, entered a no contest plea through his brother.

Little Chute police caught the trio carrying the dead rabbits from the field, on a report of trespassers. The men admitted they used the 40-foot pole to club the animals to death, after flushing them out from the brush.

The two present in court told Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer they "did it as kids, and didn't do it to commit a crime." St. Aubin told the court he had made an unsuccessful attempt earlier to hunt legally with a shotgun, but was thwarted by heavy snow.

A state conservation warden explained, from the witness stand, that it is illegal to hunt without using a gun, or bow and arrow.

Man Takes Car for Test Drive, Keeps It

Detectives are looking for a man who said he was a sailor on leave from the Great Lakes Naval Station, took a car for a test drive from a north side used car lot Thursday morning and never returned it.

An official of Gibson Co., Inc., 935 W. Wisconsin Ave., described the man as 5 feet, 8 inches tall with a crew cut, wearing a sailor's cap and trousers. It was later learned he gave a false Appleton address, after driving off in a 1965 blue Mustang.

The automobile bore dealer plate No. 24. The auto firm was unable to tell police the letter following the numeral. The car was taken about 9:30 a.m., and reported missing about 7:30 p.m. when the man failed to return.

Dist. Atty. James Long became the first candidate to file completed nomination papers for Outagamie County executive.

Long, who announced his candidacy Thursday, filed the maximum number of signatures allowed, 100, with the county clerk about 10 a.m. today.

Under an attorney general's opinion, executive candidates need only 20 to 100 signatures on their nomination papers.

Five other candidates have announced intentions of seeking the post.

Court Rules On Green Bay Man's Will

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau MADISON — Unless a will specifically states which beneficiary will pay both state and federal inheritance taxes, state and federal laws must be followed in assessing the tax, according to a Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling regarding the will of the late Lyman W. Bauknecht of Green Bay who died in 1967.

Attorney John E. Martinson, guardian of Bauknecht's three children appealed a decision of Brown County Judge Clarence W. Nier that directed that, according to provisions of Bauknecht's will the trust fund for the children should pay all the inheritance taxes, leaving his surviving wife, Lorraine Bauknecht, the trust clear of taxes.

The high court, in a decision written by chief justice E. Harold Hallows ruled that the will was not adequately clear and that the matter was too important to be left up to broad interpretation of the will. The court, therefore, reversed the ruling of Judge Nier and ordered that the taxes be charged against each trust according to the appropriate laws.

The intention set forth in the will the court agreed was that Mrs. Bauknecht should receive that maximum amount of money from the total estate including both money and personal property of $156,747.67, permitted under federal tax deduction laws, undiminished by the Wisconsin inheritance tax.

"The general view," Justice Hallows wrote, "is that a will should contain specific provisions relating to the payment of taxes if it is intended that the tax burden should fall differently than as provided by law."

The court found that, "the language of the will is not clear and falls short of an expression of intent on such an important matter as shifting a tax burden."

The results of the shift would be, the court found, that the total estate tax of $9,600, excluding inheritance tax on property, would be assessed against the children's trusts of approximately $6,300 each. The tax on their shares, however amounted to a total of only $400 of the full tax and the levy of all taxes against their shares would reduce them significantly.

The county court, now will be required by the ruling, to re-evaluate the estate and divide the proceeds and taxes in accordance with the supreme court ruling.

To Your Good Health Ultrasound Therapy Lets Heat Go Deep

cise. I do not mean vigorous or strenuous exercise.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Just what is "ultrasound therapy" and do you approve of it for bursitis?

After X rays of my shoulder, an I was told my trouble was bursitis. Pills did me no good. Then the doctor gave me a shot of cortisone and by the third day I was fine. But in a few weeks I was as bad as ever, so another cortisone shot. That was six months ago, and I feel the pain coming back again.

Meantime friends have told me of having ultrasound and having no pain for six years. I understand that one shouldn't have too much cortisone because of side effects, so am wondering if I should go to another doctor next time who gives ultrasound treatments. — Mrs. C. A.

Ultrasound is a method of applying heat deep into the tissues. This is done by applying sound waves of very high frequency — 20,000 vibrations a second. This is too high a frequency to be heard by the human ear, hence the term ultrasound.

Ultrasound has been tried for a variety of ailments, sometimes with indifferent results, but sometimes effectively. It has been effective with bursitis. Also for Meniere's disease and some types of plantar warts.

In any of these, the effectiveness is in being able to introduce heat deep in the tissues—an amount of heat that could not be applied if you tried to do it by applying something hot to the surface.

As to your cortisone shots (hydrocortisone, undoubtedly), these sometimes have to be repeated for bursitis. The injections for this purpose have a local effect rather than having impact on the entire system, so you shouldn't be fearful of the amount you have had. After all, the last one was effective for six months.

Meantime, what you can do for yourself: hot, wet compresses are very effective in milder forms of bursitis, and can provide a certain amount of comfort in the more severe cases.

When bursitis is not easily relieved but requires continued treatments, it is important to get enough exercise to keep the joint from stiffening. By exer-

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I find if I drink a warm glass of prune juice each morning, I have no constipation trouble. Is this harmful, or the same as taking a laxative? — Mrs. B. C.

Not harmful; the effect is mildly laxative, and I've recommended it often. Whether it is warm or not is a matter of choice. It'll be the same temperature as the rest of your body by the time it gets to the lower intestine anyway. (Copyright 1970)

Social Security Questions Cleared Up On Extended Care Aid

There has been some criticism of Medicare's coverage of supplies, up to 100 days, as long as your condition continues. You are responsible for a coinsurance payment of $6.50 a day after the first 20 days of extended care.

If you have questions, call your social security office and request booklet SSI-41.

An extended care facility is a facility that is staffed and equipped to furnish full-time skilled nursing and other health care services. Nursing homes which offer only custodial care do not qualify as extended care facilities.

To qualify for payments for extended care stays, four conditions must be met. You first must have been a patient in a qualifying hospital for at least three days in a row. You also must be admitted to the extended care facility for the same condition for which you were treated in the hospital; and this admission must have been within 14 days after you left the hospital. In addition your medical needs must require continuing skilled nursing.

When these requirements are met Medicare helps pay for semiprivate rooms, meals, regular nursing services, specific

When She Yelled June, Marie Answered

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That was a terrible letter from the woman who called her mother senile just because she couldn't remember the names of her children.

Our own dear mother lived to be 83. There were 11 children in our family. We were all born before Mother was 32. She could never remember any of our names so she used to call us by our birthdays. I was "January 3." Everyone called me "Jan" for short. (They still do.) The two youngest in our family were twins. Mom called Harold, "Boy, February 9" and Burdette, "Girl, February 9." My oldest brother is called "Ape" by everyone. (His birthday was April 8th.) The only confusion was with my sisters June and Marie. When Mom would holler "June 1" she was calling Marie, but sometimes June (whose birthday was in December) would answer. Outside of that mixup there was no trouble.

Some people thought this was very strange. We never did. It seemed perfectly natural to us. So please print my letter and remind your readers that every mother has her own little oddities and this doesn't mean she is nuts — January 3

Dear Jan: Thanks for letting us know how it was in your family. My mother called us by our names. Sometimes she'd call three names before she hit the right one — but she always made it eventually.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a freshman at a mid-western university and I live in a dorm. I hope you'll answer in the paper because if a letter from Ann Landers showed up for me I'd die.

The problem is simple. I can't get a girl. I've had a few blind dates but when I ask a chick on my own I strike out.

I'm not the ugliest guy in the world and I can't figure out why I'm poison ivy. I see real jerks scoring left and right. One kid in this dorm who is a case of arrested development actually gets phone calls from dames. I'm a fairly good conversationalist and I really dig a solid rap session. Can you suggest something? I like chicks as well as the next guy but they don't like me. What's the word? — The Loner

Dear Loner: You say you like chicks as well as the next guy — but who is the next guy, and how well does he like girls? Does he like them well enough to try a second or third time after he's been turned down? And what kind of chicks do you chase? The campus beauty who has 12 other cats running after her? You might hit pay dirt by calling that quiet, not-so-gorgeous gal who doesn't seem to have much going for her. You could solve your problem and hers, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter is 18. She is a high-minded, moral girl, holds a good job and has never caused us any trouble.

Last night when her date was leaving (about midnight) she slammed the door and yelled, "Go to hell." My husband is a sound sleeper and this awakened him. He asked if I had heard it — and I had.

At breakfast this morning our daughter said nothing.

Menasha Man Given Stayed Sentence on Auto Theft Charge

GREEN BAY — A 21-year-old Menasha man received a stayed six-month jail sentence and was placed on probation to the state for one year after pleading guilty in Brown County Criminal Court Thursday afternoon to a charge of operating an auto without the owner's consent.

Richard A. Eisch, 84 Appleton St., Menasha, also originally was charged with unarmed robbery, but this count was dismissed prior to the entry of the guilty plea.

The defendant was arrested last July after Clifford J. Butterfield of Green Bay had his wallet forcibly taken and his 1962 Oldsmobile stolen after giving several youths a ride from a tavern near Wrightstown. The assault took place in a nearby park.

Judge James W. Byers imposed the six-month jail term which will go into effect if Eisch violates his probation.

U.S. Closing Combat Base

Pulling Out
20,000 in
4 Months

SAIGON (AP) — The United States will withdraw 20,000 combat troops from the Saigon region during the next four months and deactivate a major tactical headquarters in a speed-up of American disengagement from South Vietnam, the Associated Press learned today.

The U.S. 2nd field force, a tactical headquarters 12 miles northeast of Saigon controlling all U.S. Thai, Australian and New Zealand combat units in the 3rd Military Region, will be reorganized to function strictly in an advisory role.

End Role

The 3rd Military Region includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces. It covers an area of 10,000 square miles.

The withdrawal of the 20,000 troops from the Saigon region will end the American combat role in the 3rd Military Region. Only one brigade of American combat troops will remain in the region by May, about 5,000 men, and their role will be one of providing security for U.S. installations.

The units being withdrawn from the 3rd Region are the equivalent of more than a combat division. They include two of the three brigades of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment, and the 2nd Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division.

Redeployed to Hawaii

Two other brigades of the 25th Division and its headquarters were redeployed to Hawaii last year.

The only U.S. combat unit remaining in the region after May will be the one brigade of the 1st Air Cavalry division.

Many of the 400 assault and other helicopters of the 1st Air Cavalry Division will be turned over to the South Vietnamese, who are hard-pressed for combat helicopters.

The withdrawal of at least a brigade of the 1st Air Cavalry division had been reported earlier this week by a reliable source.

A significant factor in the decision, sources said, was that

'Cupid' Bungles

NEW YORK (AP) — Several dozen lonely people who paid hundreds of dollars to "computer Cupids" say that what they got for their money was quite different from what they expected.

They came forward at a public hearing Friday held by State Atty. Gen. Louis B. Lefkowitz to determine what kind of controls, if any, should be placed on the booming industry. There are some 23 such computer dating services in the city.

Walter P. Gordon, a long-distance runner who stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 140 pounds, testified a computer dating service for $500, matched him with a girl who was 5 feet 2 inches and 180 pounds.

Too Old

Byron Ross, 24, of Brooklyn said he paid $500 for the name of a girl who turned out to live in Connecticut.

Harriet Weiner, a middle-aged widow from Flushing, Queens said she paid $395 for a computer match-up with a man who was old enough to be her father.

When Ronald Melston, president of Scientific Dating Service, complained that the witnesses were creating a one-sided image of the industry, a man attending the hearing rose and lodged a complaint against Melston's firm.

Stephen Milgrim and Robert Friedman, presidents of other computer-dating firms, urged the state to license the match-making business to save the industry from "quick buck artists" and "cheapie or marginal firms."

11,000 Names

Milgrim said his Operation Match, which claims to be the nation's oldest and largest computer-dating service, makes matches from a pool of 11,000 New York area names.

Matches are made from 235 separate pieces of information, of which at least 80 percent must "jibe" before two people are put in touch, Milgrim said.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Stephen Mindell, who questioned witnesses at the hearing, said many dating service firms "go in and out of business overnight, leaving consumers with no indication at all of where confidential information they submitted goes."

Student, Worker Held in Kidnaping

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Police reported today fuses to negotiate with the arrest of an economics student for Jackson's release, dent and a tire company worker the Foreign Ministry issued a in connection with the theft of a note saying: "We will spare no effort to protect his life and obtain his immediate liberation." The government has refused to deal with guerrillas responsible for six previous political kidnapings, but Jackson ranks diplomat's freedom but the Uruguayan government has said it will not negotiate with the terrorist guerrillas.

President Jorge Pacheco Areco met with three top Cabinet officials at his vacation resort at Santa Teresa, about 150 miles east of here, to consider moves in the crisis.

6 Cars Stolen

At least a half-dozen stolen cars were used in the kidnap.

One car stolen from a garage near the city center was found on the outskirts of town with bullet holes in the body.

Police said they were at a loss to explain the bullet holes because so far as they knew, no shots were fired during the kidnap operation.

Police also were seeking to identify a night watchman at a nearby garage from where a number of vehicles were stolen with two plainclothes guards in shortly before the kidnaping. The garage was located a few miles from the city center where the kidnap of Jackson took place.

Police said the watchman had driver tried to resist guerrillas started working at the garage who climbed into their car, but only 11 days before, and he too was overwhelmed and the driver was thrown into the street.

Claim Threat to Bombers

U.S. Attacks N. Vietnam Missile Site

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. fighter-bomber attacked an anti-aircraft missile site in North Vietnam Friday after the missile battery threatened American B52 bombers, military spokesmen announced today. They said no missiles were actually fired.

Disclosure of the attack, the first reported raid over North Vietnam since Nov. 30, came while U.S. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird was in Saigon for a four-day visit to South Vietnam.

The attack took place 70 miles northwest of the Demilitarized

Zone in the Mu Gia Pass area, North Vietnamese position.

Spokesmen said:

They gave this account:

Shrike Missiles

The B52s were on raids against North Vietnamese supply routes running southward through Laos just across the border and were being protected by F105 fighter-bombers that carry Shrike air-to-ground missiles.

One F105 crossed into North Vietnam and fired two of the electronically controlled Shrike missiles at the site. A spokesman for the U.S. Command said the results of the attack were not known. He said there was no damage to U.S. aircraft.

Spokesmen said that although heavy attacks recently along the North Vietnamese missile the Ho Chi Minh Trail supply site did not fire on the B52s, route through southern Laos electronic gear on the F105 bordering the Mu Gia pass, one showed that enemy radar had of four main supply routes leading locked on the strategic bombers ing into Laos.

'Protective Reaction'

Laird calls this "protective reaction." He has said protected to protect the lives of U.S. pilots flying "unarmed reconnaissance missions over Vietnam and pilots flying missions associated with inter-diction of North Vietnamese military supplies throughout south-ern Laos moving toward South Vietnam."

North of DMZ

The November attack was 5 1/2 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone near the Laotian border.

Laird held a second round of talks with top American officials today at Pentagon East, the headquarters of the U.S. Military Command at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base.

Meeting with the secretary of defense were Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Adm. John S. McCain, commander of U.S. Force in the Pacific; and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

A spokesman said the talks centered on the progress of Vietnamization—turning more of the war effort over to the South Vietnamese—on the military situation in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, on the United States' military assistance program, and on continuing American troop withdrawals.

Blast Aids Red Propaganda

By WILLIAM L. RYAN, AP Special Correspondent
It's a good bet that whoever planned the bomb at a Soviet office in Washington gave a helping hand to the ones they wanted most to damage—Russian officials. The bomb produced a loud blast, but the repercussions are likely to be a good deal louder.

The bombing illustrates the talent extremists have for damaging their own causes. The incident's chief effect inside the Soviet Union probably will be to strengthen the Kremlin's hand, Moscow to reduce the sentences for such things to people they and to begin showing a certain public support than they have. Such sensitivity could be re-ment of processes which up to now have had a hopeful look.

Focus Attention

If the bomb-planters wanted to focus attention on their demands, they lost sight of the fact that the Soviet people would know little of what goes on inside or outside the Soviet Union, apart from what the Communist party and their government choose to tell them. It will not be difficult for official propaganda to persuade most Russians that such incidents are outrages against Soviet dignity. The Kremlin had been painfully embarrassed by world outcry over Russian handling of would-be hijackers, who wanted to leave the Soviet Union that they were willing to risk death. The outcry induced Moscow to reduce the sentences for such things to people they and to begin showing a certain public support than they have. Such sensitivity could be re-ment of processes which up to now have had a hopeful look.

purges. Similarly, it did not worry about outside opinion when it campaigned against "bourgeois nationalists" and "homeless cosmopolitans." The treatment of Jews and the regimentation of Soviet social and intellectual life acutely embarrass Communist leaders abroad. The influential Italian and French parties have urgently implored the Kremlin to cool Communist leaders outside the Soviet orbit have a tough time explaining and apologizing for such things to people they want most to impress.

But every time a bomb explodes in the West at a Soviet installation, new ammunition is placed in Kremlin hands: new excuses are found for internal crackdowns; new justifications are produced for trying to rally Soviet opinion on grounds that reckless enemies threaten the nation.

State High Court Decision

Amish Excepted From Compulsory School

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The children of Wisconsin Amish families shall not be required to attend school beyond the eighth grade, despite provisions of the state compulsory school attendance law, according to an opinion Friday by the Wisconsin State Supreme Court.

Justice Nathan S. Heffernan filed a dissenting opinion.

In an opinion written by Chief Justice E. Harold Hailows, the court reversed the judgment of the Green County Court, upheld by a circuit court, convicting Jonas Yoder, Adin Yutzy and Wallace Miller for violating the law by not sending their children to the New Glarus area high school for the ninth grade in 1968.

Hailows wrote that the school attendance law is unconstitutional as it applies to the Amish and their children because it violates the religious liberty of the fathers convicted.

In his dissent, Justice Heffernan argued the law does not require attendance at a public high school — but at a school — and that the Amish should be required to establish their own school that will both satisfy the state law and meet the dictates of their religious beliefs.

Supremely Important

The majority and dissenting opinions disagree primarily on whether education is a supremely important state function.

Hailows ruled that no constitutional guarantee is more important or vital to a free society than religious liberty protected by the free exercise clause of the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

He concluded his majority argument:

"Although education is a subject within the constitutional power of the state to regulate, there is not such a compelling state interest in two years high school compulsory education as will justify the burden it places upon the appellants' free exercise of their religion."

Although many other state courts have ruled the Amish religious beliefs are not necessarily infringed upon by compulsory attendance laws, Hailows contended the rulings and the reasons were shortsighted and narrow.

He said the Amish religion requires as a means of salvation a church community separate from the world and concluded that exposure to the world for adolescent Amish children who are in a period of important religious formation directly interferes with their religious practices and beliefs.

Forces Choice

The law as it stands, he said forces the Amish father to make a choice "to either obey its commands and risk the loss of his salvation or to disobey the law and invite criminal sanctions." The impact of the choice, he said, is so severe the Amish have moved their families from state to state seeking religious freedom, noting that Wisconsin is a state to which the Amish have moved for that reason.

"When the Amish can no longer move, the impact may result in the extermination of their religious community," he said.

While other state courts have ruled against the Amish, Hailows pointed out that legislatures in some of the same states have revised rules to permit the Amish to live within their religious codes. The sincerity of the appellants and the heavy burden the law places on them justify making the exception to school attendance laws, he said.

The chief justice conceded that education is a compelling interest of the state and an important area of state government regulation in ordering state society. But, he contended, granting an exemption to the Amish for whom the public education will provide nothing necessary and much that is harmful will not destroy the operation or objective of public education.

"Granting an exception from compulsory education to the Amish will do no more to the ultimate goal of education than to dent the symmetry of the design of enforcement," he wrote. It might also cost the school district a few dollars in state aid, he said, "but this

Waupaca to Elect 2 to School Board

WAUPACA — Two posts on the board of education will be filled in the April 6 election.

Commissioners Laurie Anderson and Otto Rusch Jr.'s three-year terms expire.

Anderson will be seeking reelection, but Rusch announced today that he will not seek another term. He has served on the board of education since 1967 when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Carl Bacher. In 1968 he was elected to the office.

The joint school district includes the City of Waupaca, and the towns of Dayton, Farmington, Lind, St. Lawrence, Scandinavia and Waupaca in Waupaca County; towns of Belmont and Lanark in Portage County and the Town of Saxeville in Wau-shara County.

Qualified Electors

A qualified elector must have resided in the district a minimum of 10 days.

Any elector wishing to declare candidacy must file a letter of intent on or before Feb. 16. Forms are available at the office of the superintendent of schools.

School commissioners are paid $10 for each meeting they attend. Regular meetings are scheduled once each month on the second Tuesday.

The districts served by a seven-member board. Commissioners who terms do not expire this year are Everett Anderson, Mrs. William W. Spiegler, John Gusmer, Gerald Anderson and Loy C. Montgomery.

Driver Testifies At Inquest on Fatal Accident

Coroner's Verdict In Snowmobiler's Death Due Soon

A motorist who struck and killed a snowmobiler Dec. 20 testified at an inquest Thursday that a "shadow came up from the right side of the road" unexpectedly and that he slammed on his brakes before hitting the machine.

The accident claimed the life of Donald L. Glaser, 34, 3133 N. Ballard Road.

Laverne E. Stickney, 40, 2307 S. Lawe St., was northbound on Outagamie County Trunk A, near Center Valley Road, when the shadow appeared. He was en route to Antigo to visit a brother who had telephoned saying he had suffered a heart attack. He was driving about 55 miles per hour, with his high beam headlights operating.

Coroner Bernard H. Kemps was studying the transcript today to determine if negligence was present during the fatal accident. He will release a verdict in several days.

Investigated Accident

Lester Meyers, of the county traffic police, investigated the 8:55 p.m. accident. A large rubber smear in the northbound lane of A, where Glaser's snowmobile apparently was dragged from the impact, indicated where he was struck. Meyer testified, Stickney skidded at least 112 feet. Glaser's body, which lay in a driveway near where Stickney's auto came to rest, apparently was carried on the hood of the car. Meyers said.

Mrs. Glaser, riding with her husband, got off the snowmobile and "heard a horrible noise." They had been riding since 2 p.m. in a party of five snowmobilers, she said, and visited several taverns along the way. The accident occurred in front of a restaurant where they planned to eat supper.

Another witness, James Eckstein, one of the party, already had gone into the restaurant and was looking out of the window. He saw Glaser come from Center Valley Road, and go onto the shoulder of A, after crossing the corner of the parking lot. The lights on the snowmobile went out as Glaser seemed to be turning into the restaurant lot. Eckstein said, indicating that the machine apparently stalled. He saw Mrs. Glaser get only three or four steps away when he saw a "cloud of snow" as the car hit the machine broadside.

Mrs. Glaser and Eckstein said they saw no car approaching.

A fifth witness, who supposed he was riding or driving the auto immediately in back of Stickney failed to appear at the inquest. Kemps determined that a subpoena he sent to the Shawano County sheriff's department never arrived there, and therefore, could not be served on the witness who lives in rural Gresham. Kemps said he will take a statement from the man in person.

Cases Involving Deer Result in Fines for 5 Men

WAUPACA — Five conservation cases were heard by Judge Nathan Wiese, this week in county court branch 2.

Charles Van Thiel, 18, of 418 W. Lincoln, Little Chute, was fined $50, for shining deer while in the possession of a bow and arrows, and an additional $50, plus $9 cost for carrying the license of another. He was arrested by wardens in the Town of Weyauwega on Dec. 12, 1970.

For possessing an untagged deer, Robert Herbst, age not given, 220 South 73rd St., West Allis, forfeited $75, plus $9 cost. He was arrested on Dec. 13 at 5:25 p.m. in the Town of Harrison. Charged with the same offense, was a companion Daniel D. Stenson, 16, of 605 School Ave., Oshkosh. He paid $75, plus $9 costs.

Joel D. Jorgenson, 40, of 201 West Alfred, Weyauwega, pleaded no contest, and paid $75, plus $9 cost, for possessing an untagged deer, Nov. 29 in the Town of Caledonia.

3 Resignations On Agenda School Board To Meet Tuesday At Waupaca

WAUPACA — The board of education will consider three resignations at its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Joseph S. Lee has submitted his resignation, effective Jan. 22.

Commissioner Otto Rusch, Jr. has also filed his letter of resignation. His term as a school board commissioner expires this year, and it is one of two posts which will be filled during the April 6 election.

Mrs. Elva Bruley, secretary to the superintendent, is resigning and, if the board approves, she will fill a part-time position. A new position as half-time secretary will be considered by the board of education.

Principal Clarence Riddle will present a report on the recent Central Wisconsin Vocational Education program.

The board will also act to consider the board policy statement which has been revamped during the past four months.

The agenda also calls for a board review of student trips, the superintendent's report, and action on the Jenner property.

Waupaca County Hires Patrolman

WAUPACA — The Waupaca County law enforcement committee has authorized the hiring of Harlan D. Deitz to replace the late Dan Arrowood.

The new officer will report for indoctrination and training the last week in January or the first week in February, according to Capt. John Penney.

Deitz, 23, is a graduate of Waupaca High School Class of '66, and is presently employed by Northern Propane. A veteran of Vietnam, Deitz spent approximately two and one-half years in the military police force.

The new patrolman is married and resides on Riverside Drive, Waupaca. He will be stationed at Marion.

Health Insurance Plan Issue May be Settled

Blue Cross Contract Is Challenged

The volatile group health insurance issue is expected to be resolved Tuesday by the Outagamie County Board.

Supervisors will be given a choice of accepting a recommendation of the personnel committee, to approve a contract with Blue Cross, or a resolution submitted by Supv. John Schreiter, Appleton, to accept the low bid from Time Insurance.

The dispute has been raging since County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHun, Kaukauna, and County Clerk Arthur Hoolihan signed a contract with Blue Cross for group health insurance for county employees.

Blue Cross had submitted the third lowest of eight bids.

Charges Made

Charges were made by some county board members that the contract could not be signed without prior county board approval and that the low bid should have been accepted.

The county pays half of the insurance premium for the employees and villages and several Fox Valley counties, had been invited by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) for a special meeting at which representatives of major federal grant agencies and state and local agencies outlined the direction and requirements of the future for funding.

The board also is expected to be asked by County Administrator Alvin Woehler to set a wage policy for the county corporation counsel's office.

No Authority

The salary for the position has been classified as "negotiable" but Woehler said he has not been given any authority to offer a salary higher than the previous corporation counsel received.

Woehler indicated the corporation counsel candidates have asked for higher salaries than that figure. Frank Templeton, who resigned as corporation counsel in October, had been received $12,000 a year.

Since Templeton's resignation, A. W. Ponath has acting corporation counsel on a part-time basis. He had been corporation counsel and retired a year ago.

Woehler originally was to have submitted an appointment to the post for county board confirmation Tuesday.

An airport committee resolution calling for establishment of aircraft landing and registration fees, tabled in December, is week. Two resolutions for internal airport committee will ask for a 30 day delay.

The committee is expected to be asked for an okay to revise the proposed source of revenues and the second is to seek after a meeting of the Appleton approval to carry over a balance from the county bridge fund.

Environment, Planning

Federal Funds and How to Get Them

OSHKOSH — Area officials were given a clearer picture Thursday afternoon of what the federal and state governments expect of them in regional planning and environmental considerations.

The officials from cities, towns and villages and several Fox Valley counties, had been invited by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) for a special meeting at which representatives of major federal grant agencies and state and local agencies outlined the direction and requirements of the future for funding.

Jack Peters, of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Chicago office, said that his agency was in a program of certifying a regional planning organization for an area and then accepting its word instead of spending weeks and months to personally check out grant applications from municipalities in that region.

He said that no planning organization in Wisconsin had been certified yet.

Only One Agency

He made it clear that only one agency would be certified for an area and that if part of the region, such as one county, sought to form its own planning organization, it would be recognized by HUD but not certified, which is the key to funding income.

Peters also said that HUD would recognize the Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area as an areawide planning jurisdiction. This is an official designation which the Appleton-Oshkosh region is to be given soon.

He said that planning agencies for SMSAs always form on county boundaries, but later added that other boundaries, such as towns, might be acceptable if county lines tend to distort the planning area. He said that the three counties of Calumet, Winnebago and Outagamie probably would be considered the boundaries of this metropolitan planning area.

Plans as Policy

Under certification of a planning organization, Peters said, the agency must adopt plans as policy for the region, not just plans which are shelved and forgotten.

He also said that certified agencies could not overlap in planning programs and jurisdiction.

James McDonald, of the Federal Water Quality Administration (FWQA) Chicago office, promised the federal agencies would work to make new programs easier for local officials to understand but he also warned that environmental considerations would always be top priority.

He said there probably would be substantial amounts of money appropriated at the federal level for sewerage plants. But if "you get more federal money, you're going to have more federal guidelines, more federal interest," he said.

If a plant doesn't effectively cut back on pollution, he said, it won't be approved. He noted the strong direction is evidenced in the President's formation of the Environmental Protection Agency, incorporating FWQA and other environmental segments of agencies.

McDonald also said that FWQA was striving to make sure that industries pay their fair share in eliminating pollution.

Top-Rated Neenah Quint Wins Ninth in Succession

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — Neenah's Rockets didn't do anything to blemish their No. 1 state ranking in recording an 86-55 Fox Valley Association triumph over Kaukauna Friday night.

The Rockets, listed atop the big 10 in the initial Associated Press poll, boosted their first place FVA record to 5-0 and their overall mark to 9-0. Kaukauna has a 2-3 league record and a 7-4 mark overall.

Coach Ron Elmeron, who noted that his forces played a better game than than in the win over Racine Case a week ago, saw his club enjoy a fine second half after holding a 13-point edge at the midway break.

They rambled for 21 points in the third segment to the Ghosts' 13 and polished off the night's efforts by rolling for 29 more in that frame to Kaukauna's high of 19.

Schultz Stars

Neenah had trouble getting the ball into 6-4 Rick Matson in the first half but picked up timely baskets on outside shots by Ed Hawley and received a superb second quarter effort from Bill Schultz.

The 6-3 senior drove home 15 of his team's 19 second-quarter markers on four baskets and seven free throws.

It was Schultz, who after Kaukauna reduced the 13-point margin to eight midway in the quarter, went on a binge to drop in seven straight errors to the 13-point spread at the intermission.

The hosts started to get more balanced scoring in the third frame with Schultz, Jim Crist, Matson and Hawley all hitting two baskets.

Reserves Tally

Reserves accounted for 23 of the 25 last-quarter points, with Chris Ryan hooping five baskets and Lea Holmbeck adding three.

For the Ghosts, it was a case of just too much Neenah height. Matson picked up three fouls in the first half and his fourth early in the third quarter but the visitors didn't get any relief because Steve Loker again turned in a fine backup job.

Unofficially, the Rockets went up with a 55-32 edge in rebounding.

Schultz set the scoring pace with 25 points. Hawley and Ryan were next with 10 apiece and Crist and Matson each while Kaukauna made 21 baskets in 61 tries.

The Ghosts were more accurate from the free throw line, hitting 13 of 20 to the sub-500 total of 16 of 34 for the winners.

It was a ragged game at field goals in 73 attempts, a time, with both clubs chalking goodly number of them tips, up considerable mileage for

Papermakers, Terrors Post FVA Basketball Victories

Uelman Leads Triumph Over The Bluejays

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MEENASHA — Kimberly stayed in the thick of the Fox Valley Association race Friday night by downing Menasha, 72-61, night.

It was the fourth win in five FVA starts for the Papermakers, who are now 6-4 overall. The Bluejays, meanwhile, remained in the league basement with a 1-5 record. Menasha, 2-9 overall, has lost its last five starts.

Uelman, a willowy 6-2 senior, pumped in 10 baskets and five of five foul shots toward his game-high total before fouling out with 1:35 left in the final period. Tom Aerts contributed 11 points to the Papermaker cause, Jim Rooyackers 13, and Scott Appleton 10.

Kimberly, which led by a 40-22 margin at the half, incurred foul problems in the fourth quarter as Rooyackers and Mike Van Beek both departed with over five minutes remaining.

Menasha was unable to take advantage of the situation, however, as the Bluejays missed 11 free throw chances in 16 attempts in the final quarter alone and ended with just 29 conversions in 39 tries.

A bright spot for the Bluejays was the return of Jeff Pommering to the lineup. Pommering, who had missed his team's last five games because of a shoulder injury, fired in 20 points — 18 of them in the second half.

Paul Wisniewski chipped in with 12 markers for the Jays. The young sophomore suffered a cut to the cheek in the third quarter of the game but returned to action in the last period. He was expected to have stitches taken in the gash following the conclusion of the contest.

Menasha's zone defense gave Kimberly problems in the opening stanza, and the Bluejays grabbed a 9-4 advantage in the first 3½ minutes. But the Papermakers caught fire later and by the horn had a 16-15 edge.

Halfway through the second period, Menasha led, 27-26, but the Stan Swokowski's long shot put the visitors up for good. It was still close at 34-32 before Appleton, Aerts and Bill Uelman tallied for Kimberly in the last 1:15 of the period.

The closer the Bluejays were to range in the second half was four points (40-36) as a pair of steals gave the home forces early buckets by Pommering and Tom Bonnke. Menasha fell back again but then closed 52-48 at the end of the third canto.

Kimberly's biggest lead in the final period was 17 points, at 64-51, with 3:51 to go. The Papermakers inched toward that margin as Menasha continued to miss gift tosses and Kimberly turned the muffs into baskets.

Kimberly shot 45.9 per cent from the floor, on 29 buckets in 61 attempts; while Menasha hit 41.1 per cent, on 21 of 51.

Reitzner and Chestnut Pace 85-63 Win Over Oshkosh

BY ROD GNERLICH

OSHKOSH — Appleton West 20 big performances from Rich Reitzner and Ike Chestnut plus terrific rebounding to outclass Oshkosh High, 85-63, Friday night.

Reitzner and Chestnut pumped in 26 and 23 points, respectively, while the aggressive Terrors outrebounded the Indians, 42-13, unofficially. Tim Moriarty added 15 points and a bundle of rebounds, while Rick Luebben scored 11 points.

Craig Whitney scored 23 points for Oshkosh, while Ron Hepler and Dave Mathe added 16 and 13 points.

The third-place Terrors boosted their Fox Valley Association record to 3-2 and their over-all mark to 7-3. OHS is now 1-1 in the league and 3-6 for all games.

West got off to a slow start against the scrappy Indians holding only a 6-4 lead after the first 3½ minutes. West was never behind at any time. But Oshkosh was having no end of trouble against the intimidating Terror zone. Moriarty sparked the Terrors with a 5-point burst and West took a 16-7 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Shoots Over Zone

Oshkosh found the only way to beat the Terrors' zone was to shoot over it. John Plier and Hepler started connecting on 10 and 20-footers which opened things up for Whitney inside.

But West was putting its rebounds to good use giving Oshkosh only one shot each time they came down the floor.

It was Xavier's fourth overtime loss of the season, with three of them coming in the to the contest and send it Fox Valley Catholic conference into overtime as Jeff Harris' After both teams got off to a long shot, fell short at the sluggish start in the first period, buzzer.

In the extra session, Rich Ruys of Pennings broke the scoring ice with one of two free throws for a 32-31 lead. With 1:50 left, Harris of Xavier broke down the middle for a layup and the Hawks went ahead by one.

At the 1:34 mark, Chuck Albers of Pennings made good on two free throws for the margin of victory. Xavier had control of the ball in the final minutes but several shots failed and Harris missed from the free throw line with 15 seconds left. Xavier got a final shot with seven seconds remaining, but it fell short and Pennings got the rebound and ran out the time.

The victory gives co-leading Pennings a 4-1 record in the conference while the Hawks dropped to a 3-4 mark.

Pennings got in trouble early in the fourth period when Randy Coenen and Paul Van Dyk fouled out. The lead changed hands several times through the final minutes of regulation play but neither team could force a unanimous decision in a 10-minute 2-point advantage at any time.

Nine East players broke into the scoring column as Don Werner and Jerry Williams shared laurels with 12 points. Pete Haas added 11 markers.

Glen Reinke and Jeff Magnuson each netted 12 points for the Marines, now, 2-7 for the advantage and constructing a 35-17 bulge by the half. The East enjoyed a 26-17 advantage in field goals and made 17 of 24 free throws. The Marines were cold from the foul line, making just 10 of 24.

Wiesse Paces Knights; Wainscott Scores 27 Points

OSHKOSH — The Oshkosh Lourdes basketball team turned back Menasha St. Mary, 58-52, Friday night to retain a share of the Fox Valley Catholic Conference lead.

The Knights now 6-1 in the conference and 8-2, overall, broke the final tie in the second period and stayed ahead the rest of the way. The Zephyrs made a final-quarter bid to overhaul Lourdes — outscoring the Knights' 20 to 15, but the effort fell short.

Greg Wiesse poured in 22 points to pace the Knights. St. Mary's Tim Wainscott led all scorers with 27 points. Wainscott, effective from medium range, fired for nine goals and added nine of 14 free throws.

George Berz and Dan Fritz backed up Wiesse with 16 and 10 points, respectively. Terry Winkski added 10 points for the Zephyrs.

Arrest of Berrigan Brothers Is Top Religious News Story

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The recipients caused controversy in arrest of the Berrigan brothers both political and ecclesiastical was named the top religious circles.

— Although relatively small the grants carried great symbolic importance in the continued fight against racism throughout the world," Church World News said.

The whole year was described as a "year of protest."

— And nowhere was that protest more pointed than in the escapades of the two Roman Catholic priests expressing their concern over the war in Vietnam," Church World News reported. "The effects of the protest generated by the two priests continues to be felt."

Philip and Daniel Berrigan were sentenced to prison for the 1968 burning of Selective Service records at Catonsville, Md. Father Philip was apprehended quickly but Father Daniel eluded the FBI for four months.

Selected as the second top story of 1970 was the allocation of $200,000 by the World Council of Churches to 19 organizations fighting racism. The guerrilla activities of some of the grant — Investigation by the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod of professors at its Concordia Seminary in St. Louis to purge liberal faculty members.

— The resignation of the Rev. J. Herbert Gilmore as pastor of First Baptist Church in Birmingham, Ala. after his congregation refused to accept a black woman and her 11-year-old daughter as members.

The protest of 1970 was "unsettling" and "tradition shattering," Church World News reported. "The causes were varied."

Church World News was started as a cooperative effort of the LCA and the ALC last October. The program combines the LCA's "Church World News" which was introduced in 1951, and the ALC's "Church at Work."

Catholic Bishops Proclaim 'Right To Life' Sunday

MILWAUKEE — Sunday has been named "Right to Life Sunday" by the five Roman Catholic bishops of Wisconsin. All priests have been asked to preach on the subject.

In making the announcement, the Rev. Donald N. Weber, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Citizens, Concerned for the Urban, Milwaukee, said: "We lament the fact that the aborted child loses not only his natural life, but is also deprived of the opportunity to be baptized a Christian."

The group is a non-denominational organization which has been fighting the concept of abortion on demand for the past three years.

Sunday, which is the feast of the baptism of Jesus, will be the second annual "Right to Life" observance.

The five Wisconsin prelates supporting the program are the Most Rev. William E. Cousins, archbishop of Milwaukee; the Most Rev. Cletus F. O'Donnell, Madison; the Most Rev. Aloysius J. Wycislo, Green Bay; the Most Rev. Frederick W. Freking, La Crosse, and the Most Rev. George A. Hammes, Superior.

Installation of Our Saviour

The Rev. George E. Thronson, newly-called pastor of Our Saviour Lutheran Church, will be installed Sunday at the 9 and 10:30 a.m. services.

A reception from 2 to 4:30 p.m. is planned for him and his family.

The Rev. Dr. Theodore E. Matson, president of the Wisconsin-Superior Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, will be in charge of the installation.

Thronson comes to Our Saviour from Superior, where he served Zion Lutheran Church.

He succeeds the Rev. Ralph Sandgren, who accepted a call to Janesville.

New Goal for Agricultural Conservation

A child of the dustbowl, the Agricultural Conservation Program, has been reborn to fight pollution on farms as the Rural Environmental Assistance Program.

Franklin D. Roosevelt started the program to show Southwestern farmers how to cure ulcerous lands denuded of cover and whipped by winds causing giant duststorms.

Aided by federal funds, farmers painstakingly replaced grasses they thoughtlessly had removed. And as the Southwest healed, the program was extended to demonstrate throughout the nation how contour plowing and crop management can stop rich soils from blowing away or washing from fields, into streams.

Ways to improve crops through tile drainage, liming of fields, and installation of waterways were introduced. Crumbling banks of the Wolf River were reinforced by rock rip-rapping to stop soil erosion.

Farmers learned well the lessons of the Agricultural Conservation Program and now commonly undertake land management programs unheard of by their grandparents.

Gun Cache in Door County

The finding of a vast cache of arms in Door County, of all places, ought to bring home to people once more the need for better gun controls.

The alleged owner of the weapons is Ralph Unger who is licensed by the Federal government to sell firearms. Well and good. But much of the arsenal had not been registered under the Firearms Act. It included a wide variety of rifles, shotguns, small arms and machine guns. Why in the world would anyone in Door County want a machine gun?

It has been reported that Unger leans to the far right and this all may be part of the paranoia that has afflicted some Americans that the Commies are taking over the country and we had better be ready with cannons on our front porches, pistols under the pillows and absolutely

Drug Abuse in the Armed Forces

It often takes the military authorities some time to recognize or at least to acknowledge problems. Several spokesmen for months declared there were no racial antagonisms between blacks and whites. Drugs? Gracious no.

But the United States Command in Saigon, after numerous newspaper reports, has finally come up with a program aimed at trying to cut back on what apparently is the widespread use of drugs, especially marijuana, by our troops stationed in Indochina. But we have doubts that the program will be tremendously effective. The hard fact is that marijuana at least is being more and more accepted by young people, legally or not.

Estimates of the amount of use of pot by American troops ranges all the way from 30 per cent to far higher. A recent letter by a serviceman in the New York Times — and signed — claimed that at least 75 per cent of his parachute infantry brigade use pot and protested against "the narrow minded people" who try to prosecute marijuana smokers. He also complained that the official opposition to pot, which he apparently felt to be harmless, made the men doubt the official statements of the dangers of the harder drugs such as cocaine and heroin.

Some observers have noted that marijuana smokers in base camps are the heavier users and that they refrain when out on patrols. But a directive to all field commanders from General Creighton Abrams says that 11,000 have been apprehended and estimates that

In recent years the need for the incentive of the Agricultural Conservation Program has been questioned. Under President John F. Kennedy proposals were made to pare allocations. President Lyndon Johnson attempted unsuccessfully to drop the program.

President Richard Nixon did not include the program in the 1971 budget but it was restored by Congress. The Bureau of the Budget has approved allocations to continue work through 1971.

Now Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin has given the program a new name and a new job. It must teach farmers to co-exist with their environment.

Besides fighting erosion the program will attack pollution from pesticides, animal wastes and fertilizers.

Used wisely it may provide a way to guide farmers seeking positive answers to problems and open the door to an improved soil stewardship. Although no problems can be expected to disappear overnight, the Rural Environmental Assistance Program may eventually help farmers cleanse fouled streams as they once treated turfless prairie.

no gun registration because that could lead to confiscation. The Bill of Rights clause about the right of citizens to bear arms has been dug up time and again although it is generally interpreted that the Constitution writers were referring to members of the state militias.

We don't know whom Mr. Unger was protecting us against in Door County. The Russians coming down the St. Lawrence Waterway? The Chinese (mainland that is) in a mass flight of helicopters? And probably most residents would just as well do without it. At least a number began complaining about machine gun practice in the area.

At any rate the cooperation between the Sheriff's department in Door County and the United States Treasury Department is to be highly commended before one of those machine gun bullets went astray.

probably five times as many have been guilty of the use of drugs. Most abuses were with pot but there were 25 drug deaths, 64 other fatalities in which drug use was suspected and more than 700 hospitalizations due to drugs.

The best phase of the directive was advice on drug counselling services, particularly by squad leaders — unless of course they happen to be users as well. Of less sense is the new program to try to eradicate the trade. Marijuana has become quite a cash crop in South Vietnam and the South Vietnamese peasant is not likely to be pleased with the burning of fields of marijuana — which has been going on for some time but without official acknowledgement. The United States government is not supposed to do the burning, only the government of South Vietnam, but since the major buyers are Americans, the blame will be laid to us. One particular religious sect has been growing the stuff for years and presumably uses it in religious rites. Once more groups of Vietnamese may be alienated both by the United States and Saigon.

Drugs are a problem which cannot be denied either in the United States or Vietnam. General Abrams' directive urged more attention be paid to the "identification and welfare factors which may lead to drug abuse such as idleness, loneliness and frustration." Those are elements prominent in any war and particularly in this one and are not likely to be overcome with games, inspiring speeches or even religious exhortations.

Shorter Route to Little Chute

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Jan. 5, 1871.

It will be news for the people of Little Chute to learn that the new road on the east side of the Fox River, in the vicinity of Richmond's Paper Mill will afford them a shorter route to Appleton. There is nothing so valuable as a perfect knowledge of geography to a person conducting a public print.

A public dance was given by E. & A. Rhoades at their hotel near Young's Corners (Medina) last Monday evening. An immense crowd, we learn, was in attendance and a jolly time prevailed.

Dr. Scheerar, who, it will be

Nixon Turns It on

President Plunks for Deficit Spending to Revive Economy

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — The President did more than score a public relations triumph in his "conversation" with the four network representatives the other night. He positioned himself beautifully to promote economic recovery through government spending. In the process he dealt a rude blow to those Democrats who came off the midterm election figuring 1972 would be easy pickings.

Before the "conversation," the Nixon administration was at least half-hooked on the most benighted ideology of the Federal budget. The orthodox Rubes in the Republican party still proclaimed that expenses should balance income every year.

The President's favorite Chicago-school economists, because they assert that what counts is money supply not government spending, did not clash head-on with the backwoodsmen. The Treasury was insisting that new Federal spending should be financed by a national sales tax which it was pleased, for the purpose of fooling people, to call a value-added tax.

The President waved all that nonsense aside. He declared he would not ask for the value-added tax. He then came out for deficit spending to revive a sluggish economy more explicitly than any previous President.

Mr. Nixon said he would set government spending for next year at the level of the full were Mrs. Edwin Massonette, financial secretary; Mrs. Raymond Heegeman, trustee, and Mrs. R. M. Brandt, trustee.

Officers elected by the Winnebago 4-H Leaders Association were Mrs. LaVerne Swenson, Eureka, president; William Hansen, route 3, Oshkosh, vice president; Mrs. George Brannand, route 2, Oshkosh, secretary; Mrs. Herbert Arens, Pickett, treasurer; Earl Maxwell, route 1, Neenah, Walter Raehl, route 1, Larsen, and Elmo Merry, route 3, Oshkosh, directors.

employment budget. The full employment budget represents the amount of revenue that would come in if the economy were operating at capacity. That means, according to the best estimates, that the President's spending ceiling for next year can be over $230 billion.

Present expenditures are running at a rate of about $213 billion. Additional costs for Social Security, welfare payments, and pay raises will bring the total to about $225 billion next year. That leaves a comfortable amount left over for new programs to revive the economy.

President Nixon has already signalled — in his repeated blasts at the Congress — two new programs that he wants. One is the Family Assistance Plan for reforming welfare which cleared committee in both Houses of the 91st Congress. The other is the plan for revenue-sharing which did not get through committee last year. Judging by past requests, the President will be asking $4 billion for the first full year of family assistance and perhaps $2 billion for the first full year of revenue-sharing — which is no mean effort.

The emergence of these two measures as Administration showpieces puts Congressional Democrats in an awkward position. If they simply pass the bills, the Administration will have a truly impressive record for 1972. If they flatly reject them, Mr. Nixon has a case for more assaults on the Congress, and a bid to rally the support of the Governors and mayors.

The preferred Democratic tactic, both politically and for the sake of the country, is to go the President one better. The Democrats can legitimately push for more serious training programs and larger allotments than are now contained in the President's plan for welfare reform. They can insist that a bigger slice of revenue-sharing go to the needy cities rather than the rural constituencies favored in the President's plan.

Beyond that, the Democrats can hold the President's feet to the inflationary fires. They can insist that, if he is going to stimulate the economy through deficit spending, he should adopt guidelines to check the price rises being forced on the consumer by those with special economic power.

Despite their undoubted legitimacy, however, these positions do not sit well with the best organized supporters of the Democratic party. Minority groups oppose revenue-sharing in principle because their experience is that they get short shrift from most Governors and most state legislators who dispose of the funds. The unions share that hostility to revenue-sharing and are also opposed to the wage discipline that would go with guidelines.

Thus the Democrats cannot easily check the President's strategy. They have a job to do in weaning their clients away from the trough in Washington and introducing them to the Federal system. That is a task requiring leadership of the highest quality. How they face up to the challenge will say a good deal about Sens. Edmund Muskie, Edward Kennedy, George McGovern, Birch Bayh, and all the others being mentioned for the nomination in 1972.

State Employees Lay $100 Million Package On Lucey's Doorstep

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Of the first term problems of Gov. Patrick Lucey, perhaps the most sensitive will be the extraordinarily ambitious pay and fringe benefits proposal of the organized state employees who have become increasingly conscious of their political clout in association with the other big public employe groups now organized into labor union chapters.

In a thoroughly neutral view, it is perhaps unfair that the public employe movement has chosen the Lucey administration to receive what is far and away the most costly proposition for boosts in the emoluments of civil servants of the state government ever conceived or advanced.

The new administration confronts a financial crisis by its own definition. In any objective test, it is likely to be the most difficult dilemma to confront any administration since the great depression when Pat Lucey was a high school boy.

Other Spending Proposals

He is confronted with other ambitious proposals for more spending — for social services, for health, for education at all levels, for aid to the beleaguered metropolis of Milwaukee, to name a few. He must face the reality that revenues from existing sources are on the decline. He must make at least some token payments on his campaign pledge for property tax relief. A "token" in that direction will mean a bundle amounting to at least a hundred million dollars to make an impression strong enough for the sullenly antagonistic property taxpayer to remember.

None of these will be easy to ignore or to pare by a Democrat whose party has espoused positions that most adherents believe are the equivalent of commitments.

But especially difficult to manage will be the pressure of organized labor in the public service for a bundle of benefits of scope and size that could not have been imagined seriously half a dozen years before.

The reason is that organized labor was deeply, determinedly and publicly involved in the Lucey-Democratic campaign to an extent never before demonstrated in Wisconsin elections and with the effect of rolling up the margin of winning votes, if it did not altogether account for the defeat of Republican candidates.

Conceived Before Election

There is a temptation to suppose that this extraordinarily ambitious demand for more compensation and assorted benefits was devised after the election, when the union officers learned that their side had won and that they would surely have sympathetic ears in Madison into which to confide their hopes and demands.

That is plausible, but as it happens it is not the truth. The $400 million pay and fringe benefit package of the state civil servants was conceived long before the election and would have been presented if the Republicans won the election — although perhaps with not such confidence and self-justification.

In general, the state employe plan calls for a dollar an hour pay boost for state civil servants, generously improved retirement benefits, free parking, three additional holidays as well as triple pay for holiday work, cost of living adjustments and more merit raises. It is difficult to conceive how the sponsoring group could have asked for more even if Lucey had inherited a huge surplus.

Asking Price Only

This is an asking price as is usual in labor negotiations. But the significance is the level of the price. Even if the administration can wangle a reduction to 50 per cent, it will be a formidable amount to manage without compounding new tax needs to a level that will risk revolt of the voters in the private sector.

The 30,000 member state employe lobby may also appear numerically small.

But it is a symbol of an enormously greater force that recognizes that legislative action will be the bellwether for hundreds of school districts hiring 40,000 increasingly determined teachers and others, and cities, villages, counties and other units with tens of thousands of workers who know that state legislative action on state service compensation and fringes tends to be a yardstick.

The anti-strike law in public employment is not persuasive today although it remains on the books unchanged. There have been too many strikes in recent years, without penalty, to provide any comfort in that direction. If the citizen in the ranks ponders the incongruity of such demands in the face of a weakening labor market, he must ponder also the recent success of determined unions elsewhere.

Asians in East Africa Not Denied Citizenship

Editor, The Post-Crescent: The editorial "Blacks, Asians Upset British" (Tuesday, January 5) declares that Asians living in East Africa were deprived of citizenship in the new African countries and that the major reason for being declared "persona non grata" was their "industrial know-how and hard work." The statement is not only false, but exhibits an extraordinary lack of background investigation on your part, and would probably be interpreted as a racist in many parts of the world.

When the East African countries received independence in the early 1960's, the Asians living there had British passports. In Tanzania, most of the Asians became Tanzanian citizens but many living in Kenya and Uganda retained British citizenship. The Asian community controlled the commercial activities in these countries and the import trade. The fragile economies of the developing countries, with very limited amounts of foreign exchange, were threatened by a system which allowed purchase of foreign luxury items, rather than the basic industrial goods, required for long range development. Each country began regulating the import market and restricted the commercial activities of non-citizen. The non-citizen Asians in Kenya and Uganda realized their future in Africa was limited and began immigrating to Great Britain in 1967 and 1968. The British restricted immigration, as did India and Pakistan for Asians with British citizenship. Asians who had become citizens in East Africa still retain citizenship and make an important contribution to commercial and industrial development in those countries.

The concluding paragraph in your editorial recommends the development of tolerance and respect between peoples and acknowledges that centuries-long arrogance of Western man will take a long time in living down. This will occur much faster if we are more careful in writing editorials about events in other parts of the world.

Jealous Britisher Smashes Windows

SUNDERLAND, England (AP) — Charles Lancaster was so jealous of the number of visits his girl friend paid to a psychiatrist he vented his spleen by smashing the doctor's car windows.

Summoned to court, Lancaster, 20, explained he and the girl planned to marry the following Saturday. "The only wedding present we can give you is a heavy bill, 60 pounds—$144, towards the damage," replied the magistrate.

Health Insurance Plan Issue May be Settled

Blue Cross Contract Is Challenged

The volatile group health insurance issue is expected to be resolved Tuesday by the Outagamie County Board.

Supervisors will be given a choice of accepting a recommendation of the personnel committee, to approve a contract with Blue Cross, or a resolution submitted by Supv. John Schreiter, Appleton, to accept the low bid from Time Insurance.

The dispute has been raging since County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, and County Clerk Arthur Hoolihan signed a contract with Blue Cross for group health insurance for county employees.

Blue Cross had submitted the third lowest of eight bids.

Charges Made

Charges were made by some county board members that the contract could not be signed without prior county board approval and that the low bid should have been accepted.

The county pays half of the insurance premium for the employees. County supervisors also can participate in the employee group insurance but must pay the full premium themselves.

The board also is expected to be asked by County Administrator Alvin Woehler to set a wage policy for the county corporation counsel's office.

The salary for the position has been classified as "negotiable" but Woehler said he has not been given any authority to offer a salary higher than the previous corporation counsel received.

Woehler indicated the corporation counsel candidates have asked for higher salaries than that figure. Frank Templeton, who resigned as corporation counsel in October, had been received $14,000 a year.

Since Templeton's resignation A. W. Ponath has acting corporation counsel on a parttime basis. He had been corporation counsel and retired a year ago.

Buckley Opens Campaign With Swipe at Long

Appleton Mayor George Buckley has accused Dist. Atty. James Long with "breaking faith with the people of Outagamie County" by announcing his candidacy for county executive "after he just began his new term as our district attorney."

Buckley, who also wants the new No. 1 elected post in the county, charged Long with being a perennial office-seeker.

"Obviously, Mr. Long had no intentions of serving as district attorney when he takes out papers for another office only three days after beginning his new term," Buckley said.

The mayor added, "If Mr. Long is to be a candidate for every public office that becomes available, it is no wonder that the Appleton telephone book has a listing on page 99 'Jim Long campaign headquarters.' I presume that any perennial candidate would need permanent campaign headquarters."

Long, contacted Friday morning, said he would not bother answering Buckley's charges.

Nutritionist Sought For Surplus Users

Federal funds through the University Extension program will be sought to provide nutrition planning for Outagamie County users of surplus commodities.

County agent Russell Luckow told a joint meeting of the county board's agriculture committee and social services board Thursday that a pilot program exists for this purpose with matching funds on a percentage basis. But, he said, he would have to find out the status of the funds.

Concern over the use of surplus commodities arose when charges were made a year ago by some supervisors that the commodities were being wasted instead of being used.

The social services board had proposed in its 1971 budget the hiring of a homemaker to work with the families to show them how to make better use of the commodities.

The funds were taken out of the budget after members of the agriculture committee contended the service could be provided through existing facilities of the University Extension office.

Luckow said he fully endorsed the program to provide the training but additional help would be needed in the extension office to provide the service. He said in other counties food stamps would be feasible to switch to under the program, which is "expanded nutrition," part-time people are utilized.

William Pfrang, casework supervisor with the social services department, said the program proposed through that department would have been 100 per cent federally funded but the funds were only guaranteed to July.

Reduce Waste
Which ever way it would be handled, he said, the purpose of a nutrition specialist is to help overcome the objections to certain commodities and to get a better use of the commodities with less waste.

Luckow agreed. The number one goal is improved nutrition he said. The one facility lacking, Luckow said, is a demonstration kitchen at the courthouse. Kitchens would be available for use in other parts of the county, he added.

Supv. Norman Austin, Oneida, chairman of the social services board, said he agreed supervising with the nutritionist should be with the extension office.

Pfrang said his only question was the possible effect if the county switched from surplus commodities to food stamps.

Luckow said he felt the program would still be valid. Ray Kaskey, new deputy director, said experience in other counties has shown that fewer people participate in food stamps than in surplus commodities. Austin said he did not think it would be feasible to switch to food stamps because people had to pay for the food stamps and "in my town 50 per cent of people don't have the cash."

Red Cross Course Set At Kimberly School

KIMBERLY — A standard Red Cross first aid course will be offered for five consecutive weeks beginning Wednesday at a listing on page 99 'Jim Long campaign headquarters.' I presume that any perennial candidate would need permanent campaign headquarters."

Instructor for the sessions — scheduled for 8 to 10 p.m. each Wednesday — will be John Rietveld. Persons attending the sessions should use the Maple Street entrance to the school. The course is free.

David Martin Named to New Position at K-C

NEENAH — David O. Martin has been named manager of state and community relations by Kimberly-Clark Corporation.

Martin, for 10 years a member of the Wisconsin Legislature as a representative from Winnebago County and a candidate for lieutenant governor in the November, 1970, election, will be assisting in development of corporation public affairs programs in the 15 states in which the company has plants. He began the new assignment Jan. 4.

Martin joined Kimberly-Clark in 1956 as a planning understudy and has worked in the service operations and traffic departments of the company. He is a forestry graduate of the University of Michigan.

Lucy Stays 'Flexible' on School Aid Issue

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Patrick J. Lucey took a carefully non-committal stand on the volatile issue of public aid to private and parochial schools as he held his first post-inaugural press conference.

He told reporters that he is sympathetic about what he called the "beleaguered" parochial schools, some of which have closed or are reducing their class schedules because of financial shortages, and recalled that during his campaign he had consistently declared that he had not arrived at a feasible solution for their troubles.

But it is evident that they face a "crisis" situation, he went on, that more of the schools may be forced to close, that such closings will be wasteful in the sense that plant and other facilities will be unused and additional cost burdens will be transferred to the public school systems, and that some state action may be required to keep them in operation.

Not Committed

Notwithstanding, said Lucey, he is not committed to the parent tuition grant program that was disputed in the last session of the legislature and was proposed by an organization representing parochial school interests.

Lucey emphasized that he had avoided during his campaign any expression of opposition to the state tuition grant plan, but that he had also declared repeatedly that he was not committed to support it.

He said he has maintained "flexibility."

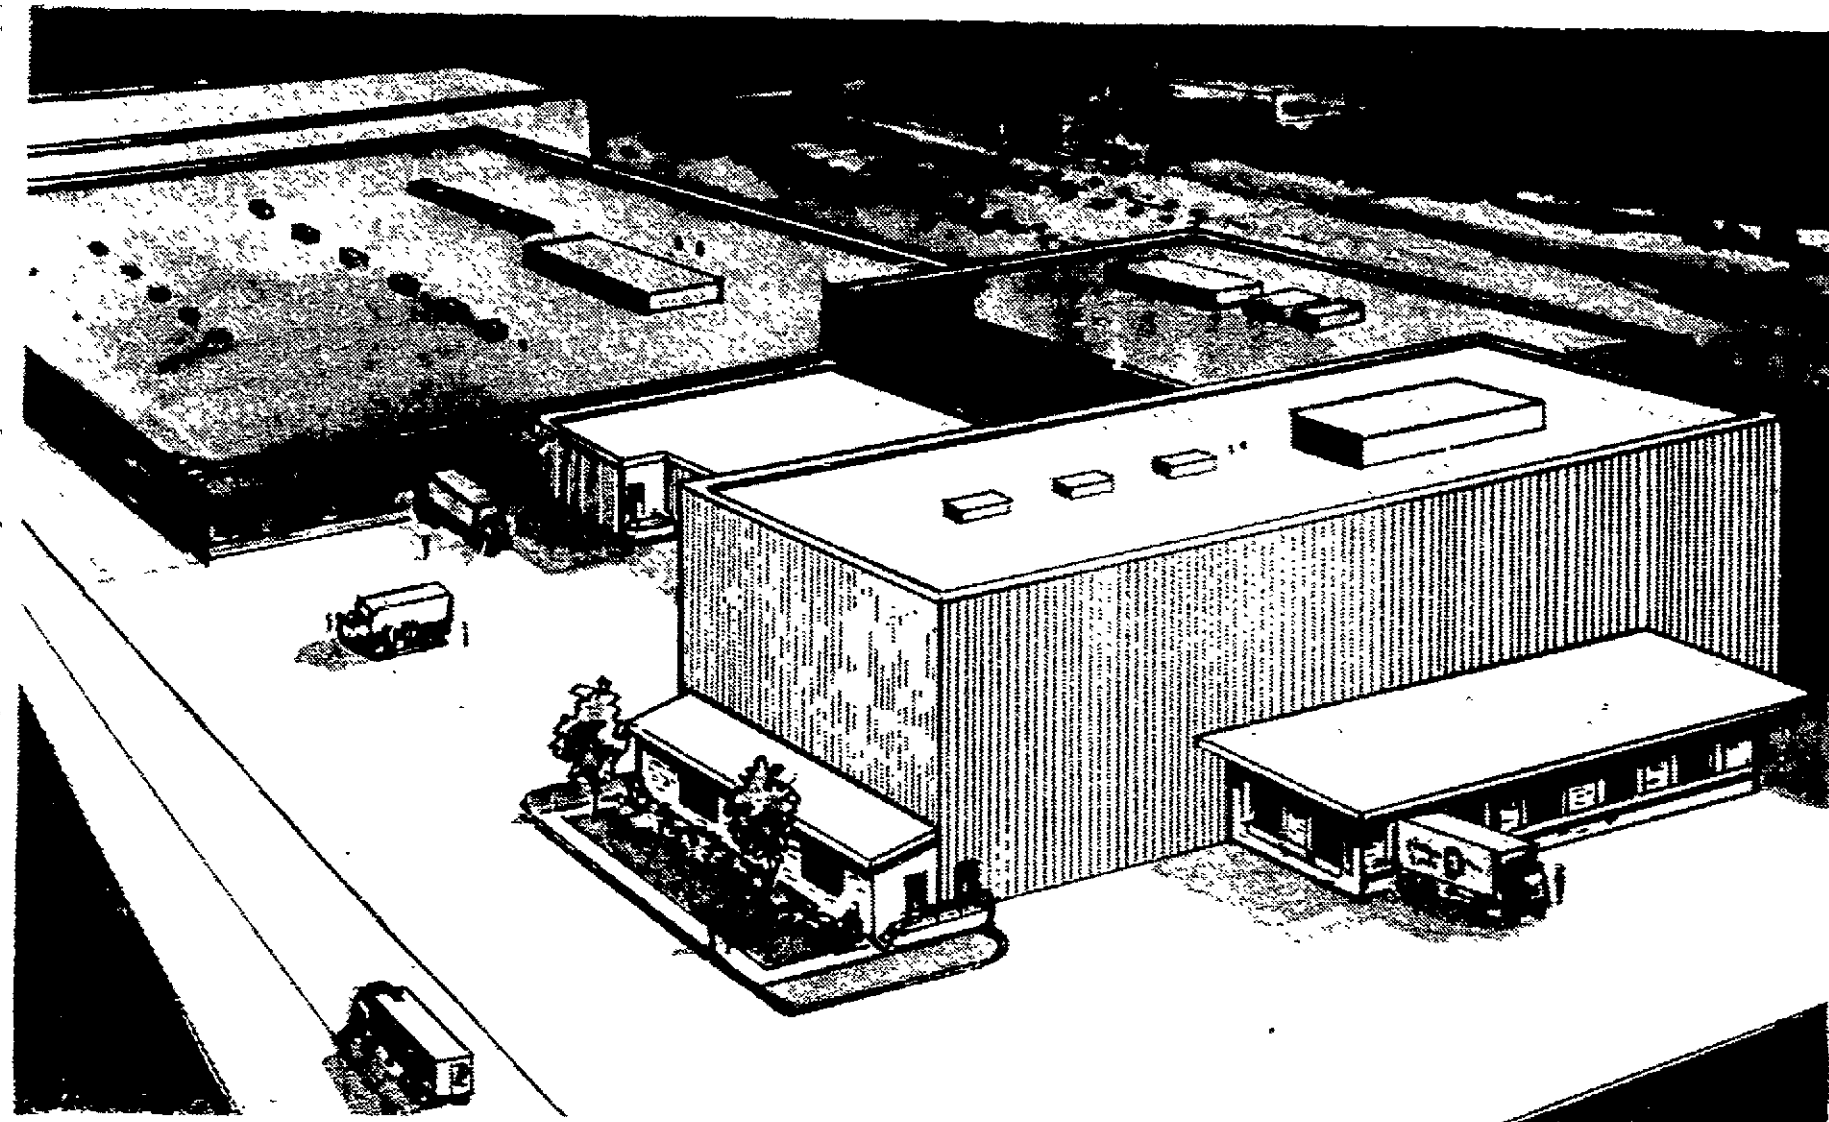

Backed Grants

The governor noted that the commission on education named by his Republican predecessor, Warren P. Knowles, better known as the Kellett commission, had dismissed the idea of direct state support of nonpublic schools through the tuition grant or any other means as unwise and probably unconstitutional because it would mean state financing of religion-oriented programs.

Instead, the commission endorsed the idea of state grants for categorical services of the schools, including those that are now sometimes extended to non-public schools by the public schools on a "shared time" basis.

But the governor carefully explained also that he has not yet explicitly endorsed such an alternative either.

Lucey left the impression that a new citizens task force on education issues may review the issue for the guidance of the new administration and the new legislature. That group under the terms of its mandate will report to the state executive no later than April 1.

Fresh Bakery Sold, Name Changed

Elm Tree to Expand Appleton Plant

A name change coupled with the sale of a portion of its operation and a major $2 million building expansion program for the Elm Tree Baking Co. all were announced today by B. A. Pfeifferle, president.

Elm Tree, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Rich Products Corp. of Buffalo, N. Y., is one of the nation's largest producers of frozen dough and fully baked products for retail, food service and in-store bakeoff customers.

With the sale of its fresh baked goods division to Bake Rite Baking Co. of Stevens Point for an undisclosed sum, Elm Tree will become Elm Tree Frozen Foods, Inc., with renewed concentration on producing frozen dough and baked products for national distribution.

Elm Tree will continue to produce sweet products and variety breads for Bake Rite which will market them for a time under the Elm Tree label.

Because of Elm Tree Frozen Foods' renewed emphasis in the frozen foods field, the Elm Tree loading dock facilities will permit 10 additional semi-trailers to be loaded simultaneously.

In January, 1970, the 90-year-old Elm Tree Bakery was purchased by Rich Products Corp., the nation's foremost producer of frozen nondairy specialty food items. In addition to the Appleton facility, Rich Tree since the company moved Erie, Ont.

to its sprawling 91,000 square foot facility on W. College Avenue in 1956.

Elm Tree's freezing capacity will be increased by 200 per cent, bringing the total capacity up to 25,000 pounds of products per hour through a completely automated conveyorized system at a temperature of minus 40 degrees.

Approximately 4 million pounds of finished products (or 200,000 cases) will be stored in the expanded freezer storage years. He began his career with monthly basis. Last year, he said, 1,770,868 obstetrical cases were recorded of which 15.6 per cent were abortions. Of women who delivered babies, 552,048 were "acceptors."

Products will be automatically loaded and unloaded in the storage freezer. The increased and one son.

He said he believes abortion information should be part of any maternal health program. "I realize that many religions or philosophies consider it immoral. Others think that compulsory motherhood is immoral. Neither should impose their views on the other," Dr. Rogers said.

"I feel strongly that pregnancies should be prevented, not terminated. But until safe, effective contraceptives are developed and available, abortion should be developed and used," the medical director stressed.

About 47,000 hospital abortions were reported in New York between July 1 and Dec. 4 since the change, Rogers said.

Low Income Patients
According to charts he distributed, about 33 per cent of patients were in low income categories. Most of the indigent were from New York City, but most of the outstate patients taking advantage of no residency requirement were from higher income levels.

He said he estimates between 250,000 and 300,000 abortions will be performed in the first year of the new law.

"But the exact total may never be known. That's a tragedy since we should know the personal views of every woman who has the right to decide whether and when she will have a child and not be subject to coercion of any kind. I believe it's a medical matter and there should be no laws dealing with it."

Hospital Best Place to Start Planned Family

Begin After Delivery, UWGB

Population Seminar Speaker Says

GREEN BAY — Family planning methods in most countries are best started and taught through urban hospitals. This is the principle of the New York Population Council's "International Postpartum Program" explained by the director, Dr. Frank Shubeck Friday.

He spoke at a family planning program symposium at the University of Wisconsin Green Bay.

"Postpartum," Shubeck said, refers to the three-month period after a pregnancy is "terminated." The time after delivery at an urban maternity ward, along with pre-natal sessions at satellite clinics, is the logical time to tell women about inter-uterine devices (IUD) chemical injections, sterilization and other birth control methods, he said.

In the developing countries of Asia, Latin America and Africa, limitation of births and regulation of family size are perceived as essential to economic survival, he added. The program started in 1966 now includes 120 hospitals in 13 countries, partially funded by the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Since many women stay in the crowded hospitals for a day or less, family planning staffs have resorted to posters, group informational sessions, movies, individual counseling and even public address system "pep" talks, according to Shubeck.

Women who agree to IUD insertions or contraceptive injections right at the hospital are "immediate acceptors" in the program's terminology. Those who adopt family planning techniques within the critical three-month period are "directing projects and contraceptive research."

Shubeck said that the council and the World Health Organization are interested in expanding to those sectors of the population which do not use hospitals.

Shubeck has served the population council in overseas training projects and contraceptive research.

Open Court Reading
KIMBERLY — A panel discussion on open court reading will be held at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Organization at 8 p.m. Tuesday at West Side Elementary School.

Fifth and sixth grade physical education classes, taught by Robert Ness and Miss Dana Dufenhorst, will present a demonstration.

There is a definite risk to abortion, he said, although the law changed are fewer than the 20 deaths recorded in 1968 and 1969 before abortion was legal. "Women may risk prematurity" of future births, he said, which is believed to increase direct proportion to the number of abortions. The premature birth rate is 10 per cent for those with no abortion history, but 20 per cent of those with several abortions, he illustrated.

Early Abortions
New York's experience also has demonstrated that abortions should be performed as early as possible, he said.

Out of Wedlock Babies
Dr. Harriet Pilpel, a New York lawyer, amended Dr. Rogers speech by noting that some people seem to expect execution of the new law to be perfect in six months.

"When something has been pregnancies," he said. Prior to criminal for well over a century, it's not reasonable to these were growing at an alarming rate. Now the charts show that in all but youngest age levels the abortions in 1970 of public relations for Planned Parenthood Center in Buffalo, figures for 1969.

It seems likely out of wedlock births will show a decline in New York between July 1, 1970, and 1971.

Dr. Rogers included problems in his talk.

Contraceptive measures vary in their importance from country to country. Shubeck said, but the overall program has been mainly IUD. The All-India campaign involving 59 hospitals separate from the council is advocating the sterilization of 20 per cent of the women who deliver babies in a given year. Except for two hospitals in Columbia, on the other hand, no sterilizations are provided in Latin America.

Small Staff

Most hospitals with 3,000 to 5,000 obstetrical cases a year, Shubeck said, can staff a postpartum service with one doctor, one or two nurses, social workers or "motivators", and a clerk. The cost is about $10,000 a year.

The special advantages of family planning at hospitals, Shubeck summarized, is that women at hospitals "are a captive audience"; no special movements are needed in sensitive countries where family planning is disfavored; paraprofessionals, such as midwives, can be trained in existing facilities, and accurate records can be compiled and maintained.

The peculiar disadvantage of urban projects in many countries is that they fail to reach a significant proportion of the population. Where technologies of birth control break down, UWGB professor Richard Fontana noted, is among rural people with "pre-medical attitudes."

Shubeck said that the council and the World Health Organization are interested in expanding to those sectors of the population which do not use hospitals.

Shubeck has served the population council in overseas training projects and contraceptive research.
